» Programming His Own Tunes

LD Scott Warner is programming musical instruments rather than lighting consoles these days. Using drums, guitar and keyboards, he is creating new electronic music with a touch of rock. Creating tunes is not new for him, he said. "I wrote a song back in the late '80s that was placed on a documentary about the talk show host Morton Downey, Jr." In his other spare time, he's making kitchen chopping boards for his wife's veggies and taking care of two outside feral cats.
